

April Message - Don't be a Fool

It's April - a fun month to pull pranks, but remember to watch out for them online.

When you are online beware of stranger danger - some people may ask for your address, phone number or password but you must not give them this information. This information is private and should only be shared with you family.

Remember that everyone you meet online isn't always who they say they are. You must not meet a stranger in real life that you have met online. If you ask an adult and they let you then make sure you bring the adult with you to the meeting.

So be careful online and always remember Techno's rule about contact.

Never talk to strangers online or give them your details.
